

WELLBEING SATURDAYS - GOLDEN AGE OF HOLLYWOOD FILM

01. Who is this course for?

This one-day course is aimed at anyone interested in learning about the history of the Hollywood film industry. Together we will watch extracts from, and talk about, classic Hollywood films: you can also have a go at writing your own film review. We will cover topics such as how and why we study films, as well as and the significance of film fandom. There will also be a selection of fascinating historical film objects for you to look at and explore.

02. What will I learn?

You will learn approaches to studying, analysing and appreciating film, with a focus on Hollywood classics between 1930-1950, such as 'Casablanca'. 'Golden Age of Hollywood' is an opportunity for film lovers and novices to find out more about this iconic period of film history, and build skills in talking and writing about film.

03. How will I learn?

This workshop combines tutor-led activities with independent learner activities. Learners will be supported through class discussions and 1:1 assistance to develop their writing skills. Learners will receive regular verbal and written feedback on their progress. Please avoid taking holidays during the course. Missed lessons can affect funding for adult learning courses.

04. What will I need to bring?

You will need a notebook and pen. Please bring a drink and lunch.

05. What skills or experience do I need?

No experience is needed to join this course, just a general interest in learning about film.

06. How will I be assessed?

The Learning for Wellbeing curriculum uses formative and summative assessment methods to evaluate learner progress. You will work towards completing a set of class learning targets, as well as your own personal development targets. Informal discussions with the tutor will take place throughout the course, both individually and in groups. Your progress may also be documented through photographic evidence.

07. What could I do after this course?

Upon completing this course, you may wish to try one of our other creative skills courses: Introduction to Novel Writing, Drama for Wellbeing, Wellbeing Saturdays - Exploring Silent Film The Learning for Wellbeing curriculum offers a wide range of art, craft, sewing, cookery, dance and creative arts courses for you to continue developing skills specifically aimed at improving your wellbeing. Courses are available to search on the GoLearn website.

08. How will I be supported in my learning?

08. How will I be supported in my learning?

We aim to support all learners to succeed. When you enrol on your course you will be asked if you have any learning difficulties and/or disabilities which may affect your learning. This might include physical disabilities, neurodivergent needs (e.g., Autistic Spectrum Disorder, ADHD, dyslexia, or dyspraxia, etc.), visual and auditory impairments, or a medical condition which might affect your learning. Your tutor will contact you prior to joining the course to discuss what support can be put in place. For some learners this may mean organising extra time in exams or arranging for a Learning Support Assistant to support your learning in class. We also offer a wide range of assistive technology such as reader pens, screen readers, large print keyboards and screens, alongside in-class resources such as coloured overlays, large-print resources and more.

09. Is help available with course fees?

Many of our courses are FREE to all learners. For fee-paying courses, if you are in receipt of state benefits or have a low income (£27,976.16 before deductions) you could be entitled to enrol on your course for FREE, or at a 70% reduced fee cost. If your course is accredited (working towards a formal qualification) your course may be FREE if you earn under £25,750 before deductions. Some exclusions apply, eligibility for fee reduction is subject to change, and you may be required to provide evidence of earnings. If the amount you must pay for your course is over £50, we offer instalment plans which break down the cost of learning into a set number of easy monthly payments. If you need help with the wider costs of study, such as childcare, resources, travel, and transport costs, you may be eligible to have these costs reimbursed through our Discretionary Learner Support Fund. Visit us online for more details, and to download the online application form.

10. How do I choose the right course for me?
